British Packet AND ARGENTINE NEWS.

N°. 747.] BUENOS AYRES, SATURDAY, DECEMBER 12, 1840. [Vol. XV.

BUENOS AYRES.

On Saturday last a salute of 21 guns was fired from the fort, the bells of the churches rang a merry peal, rockets were discharged in various parts of the town, and music paraded the streets, in celebration of the victory obtained over the forces of Lavalle on the 28th ult., which we noticed in our last. The official details have not yet been published, but the victory is said to have been most complete.—Amongst the consequences of it, has been the rescue of General Felix Garzon and his brother officers who were taken prisoners by Lavalle in Santa Fé.

Three salutes of seven guns each were fired from the French brigs of war Cygne, Cuirassier and Alcyone, on the occasion of a visit from the Chargé d'Affaires of France, M. Charles Lefevre de Becour.

As a proof that France is perfectly sensible of the maritime advantages the occupation of Algiers holds out to her, in the event of a war, M. Thiers remarked at a recent sitting of the Chambers, "that Algiers may be made a magnificent port, and was nearly finished. We shall have there," continues the hon. deputy, "a squadron of 30 ships of the line, under the protection of invincible batteries, and if around Algiers you have a few hundred thousand of colonists, the possession will be precious and magnificent. France was carrying on a war there not for war sake, but for the purpose of arriving at a useful result."

ABDICATION OF THE KING OF HOLLAND.
(From the Morning Chronicle.)

We have received, by extraordinary express from Brussels, the important news of the abdication of the King of Holland.

Our correspondent writes- -"I hasten to communicate to you the most important news just received by the Amsterdam papers of Wednesday afternoon, that his Majesty, before setting out the day before from the Hague, for the Castle of Loo, announced to his ministers his intention of abdicating. In a few days a proclamation will be issued, by which his Majesty will inform his subjects of his resolution. I am enabled to assure you, from private letters I have received this moment from Holland, that this news has an official character."

The Observateur of Brussels gives several extracts from the Dutch journals, which confirm this intelligence. In the city article of the Avondbode, of the 30th, it is stated that the rumour caused great depression. The King made known his resolution to some of his ministers before his departure for the chateau of Loo — The Handelsblad makes the same announcement, and adds that "the King went to Loo with Baron Fagel, one of his oldest friends, who had recently arrived from Paris, where he had performed the functions of minister plenipotentiary. The Prince and Princess of Orange are summoned to meet the King at Loo on Monday next. It is believed that his Majesty has already given orders to transmit in two days all the official documents of the various ministerial departments to the Prince of Orange, who will for the future conduct all the affairs of the kingdom. We wait with the most eager anxiety for further intelligence respecting this interesting event." The Dutch papers do not even hint at the causes which have led to this determination on the part of the King; but it is thought in Brussels that he has descended from high estate solely to accomplish in private life the union with an amiable lady of his Court which met with so much opposition when first announced to the Dutch people about a twelvemonth ago.

There was a grand Subscription Ball at the Victoria Theatre on Monday night last, in celebration of the Convention with France.—Doña Manuela Rosas daughter of the Governor attended, and other members of the family of H. E.—As also the lady and daughter of the Delegate Governor Don Felipe Arana, the lady of General Alvear and daughters, and a number of fashionables. The boxes were occupied by ladies, spectators of the dance.

"Conception day," (8th inst.) was kept as a close holiday in Buenos Ayres.

The Alameda had a great number of visiters on the two last Sundays and on the holiday of Tuesday.

The Weather has been changeable during the last fortnight, with some sultry days.—Thermometer 72 to 88. It was yesterday at 88.

Official Documents.

The Gaceta of 4th inst., contains congratulatory addresses to the government on the Convention with France, from General Mancilla Inspector General (acting) on the part of the army of the Province, the employés of the Foreign, Home, Finance, Public Credit, Treasury, Mint, and various other departments civil and military.

The following is a translation of the address from General Mancilla.

"Buenos Ayres, November 3, 1840.

"The army of the Province congratulates the country and Our Illustrious Restorer of the Laws on the glory arising from the Convention of Peace celebrated on the 29th ult., between the Argentine Confederation and France.

"It really would have appeared impossible that the government of a young Republic, deprived of its principal resources, by the strict blockade imposed by a powerful nation for two years and seven months, suffering great privations, exposed to the incursions of the recreant unitarians, should yet have saved the honor and dignity of the Republic. It proves that a free people are never weak, should they have at their head a citizen possessed of the virtues and strength of mind which characterise Our Illustrious Restorer of the Laws.

"The Inspector General in expressing sentiments which have inspired the army of Buenos Ayres with the greatest enthusiasm, has the honor to add in the name of that army, that a long series of combats and triumphs for the liberty of the country, have not abated its ambition to shed their blood in so noble a cause. Accustomed to fight and conquer under Our Captain General, Illustrious Restorer of the Laws, it only waits his orders to march and exterminate the odious unitarians if they still adhere to their mad and impious design of oppressing the great majority of their fellow countrymen, and stifling their desire for the federal system.

"God preserve Y. E. many years.

"Lucio Mancilla.

The Gaceta same date contains copies of despatches from Generals Manuel Oribe and Juan Pablo Lopez, and Lieut. Col. Andrade, relating to skirmishes with the army of Lavalle and of a victory obtained by Lieut. Col. Andrade on the 15th ult., (noticed in our No. 745) in which 400 men of his opponents were left dead on the field of battle, with loss to the victors of only 32 men killed, wounded and dispersed.

The same paper contains a proclamation from General Juan Pablo Lopez, Governor of Santa Fé, to the inhabitants of that Province, on the celebration of the Peace with France, in which he enthusiastically eulogises Governor Rosas, and speaks in the most indignant terms of Lavalle.

The same paper contains a decree dated Parana 5th ult., from General Echague, Governor of the Province of Entre Rios, in tenor, that the 29th October, the day on which the honorable Convention of Peace was signed with France, ought to be registered in the annals of the country, and therefore that three days in every year be in future denominated Carnes tolendas de Octubre in commemoration of the 29th of that month, and that in the present year, rejoicings should take place for three days from the date of the decree.

A note to Governor Rosas, dated 23rd October, from the Rev. José Tomas Gaete, Curé of the Parish of La Piedad, gives an account of a funeral service performed at the church of that parish, in memory of the deceased lady of H. E. Doña Encarnacion Ezcurra de Rosas. The Bishop of the Diocese Dr. Mariano Medrano officiated at High Mass and pronounced a funeral oration. The battalion of Colonel Joaquin Maria Ramiro, was drawn up in front of the church and fired a volley.

A note dated Buenos Ayres 13th ult., to the Governor from Don Juan N. Fernandez, states that it is the duty of every good Argentine to aid in the war brought on the country by the recreant traitor unitarian band, headed by the infamous barbarous unitarian assassin Juan Lavalle, until those anarchist vandals, enemies of order and liberty be exterminated. He therefore proffers for the service of the government 50,000 dollars.

The government in replying to the above, thanked Señor Fernandez in the name of the Argentine Confederation for his generous and patriotic donation.

The Chief of Police addressed a note to the government under date 1st inst., stating that in the last month 487 persons arrived in this city. The departures 269, including children and servants.

A petition dated 4th ult., signed by a number of individuals was presented to the House of Representatives, praying that some honorable demonstration be offered to the son and daughter of H. E. the Governor, for their exertions in the cause of the country.

The decree of 11th December 1832, ordering all the employés civil and military, to wear mourning on the left arm on the 11th, 12th and 13th of every December, &c. &c., in memory of the late Governor Dorrego, who was shot on the 13th December 1829, by order of General Lavalle, was re-inserted in the daily papers this week.

Buenos Ayres, December 2nd, 1840.
31st year of the Liberty, 25th of the Independence,
And 11th of the Argentine Confederation

The Citizen Brigadier General Juan Manuel de Rosas,

To the Hon. House of Representatives.

H. E. the Delegate Governor and Captain General, has transmitted to the undersigned the decree of your Hon. House, conferring on him with generous munificence the rank of Grand Marshal.

Such an excess of benevolence and honor, excites in him the most intense gratitude. He considers himself highly fortunate in having been placed by the voice of your Hon. House and that of his fellow citizens in a situation in which it was his duty to devote his services to the noble cause of liberty—in Divine Providence having supported his weak energies, by enlightening his reason and his course, so as to have merited the estimable approbation of the Hon. House of his fellow citizens, and of the friends of liberty. This supreme satisfaction is the most elevated reward which his grateful heart can covet. The fidelity to the sacred oath of national independence, and to the principles of true liberty in both hemispheres, carries in itself the most complete recompense.—Above all honors he prizes that of beholding his name associated with those of his countrymen civil and military employés, and other citizens who have been declared worthy and faithful sons of liberty. He is unable to express his satisfaction at this brilliant halo which surrounds the sons of the Confederation, and illuminates its annals with splendid glory.

The aspirations of the undersigned have no further aim than the independence and liberty, the honor and dignity of the Confederation.—He wishes the annihilation of the recreant unitarian band, for the sake of the consolidation of these blessings, and in order that the extraordinary circumstances of the country ceasing, the heroic sacrifices of the people be crowned by seeing the long wished for day of the great work of our Constitution dawn. And he wishes, Representatives, for his individual liberty and repose.

Let it be permitted the undersigned to manifest to your Hon. House, that by the law of 25th January 1830, you deigned to grant him the honorable title of Illustrious Restorer of the Laws. This high recompense is of such great magnitude that he cannot recall it without the most touching emotion of fervent acknowledgment.

Different petitions from his fellow citizens have been laid before your Hon. House, soliciting you to accord honors to the undersigned or requesting honorable distinctions for his beloved children. Noble is the origin from which they flow. He duly appreciates them: but the title of Illustrious Restorer is sufficient for him, and for his children that they be recognised and treated by their fellow citizens, as worthy sons of their parents, the Confederation, and America. What other greater reward could be conferred upon him, when the Hon. House has granted to the undersigned that of Illustrious Restorer of the Laws? What greater honor than that bestowed by the same Hon. House, when surrounding with funeral pomp, the remains of his beloved wife Encarnacion, and decreeing her the honors of Captain General, thereby immortalizing her name, and perpetuating her memory in the history of liberty? The precious right of petition should not be exercised on slight occasions. It is reserved for the glorious crises in which the liberty and safety of the country being endangered it may become necessary to save it.

And what could the undersigned have attained without your illustrious co-operation, without your energetic and immortal renewal of the sacred oath of national independence, without the resources which you voted, inflamed with heroic and dauntless patriotism. To you belongs so much and so brilliant glory. To you is owing the radiant halo which encircles the annals of the Confederation. Let it be allowed the undersigned to call to mind the paragraph of the Message of 1839. "The government appealed to your wisdom, and ardent patriotism: it asked of you resources, and animated with an energetic sentiment of honor and liberty, you have granted them, commensurate to the pressure of circumstances. They already give impulse to the sacred cause of the nation—Honorable Representatives! You have placed the seal to your work: you have crowned the hopes of the country."

The undersigned therefore intreats your Hon. House will be pleased to allow him to decline the rank of Grand Marshal, for which elevated distinction he nevertheless tributes to you the humble offer of his heartfelt acknowledgment.

He offered to your Hon. House, his life, his property and his fame in support of liberty.—With profound respect, and penetrated with the most lively gratitude, he repeats this offer with the same sincerity with which he tendered it, with a great part of his fortune, to the paramount exigencies of the country.

God preserve your Hon. House many years.

JUAN MANUEL DE ROSAS.

Buenos Ayres, December 2, 1840.

The Citizen Brigadier General Juan Manuel de Rosas,

To the Hon. House of Representatives.

The undersigned feels highly grateful in fulfilment of his duty in addressing your Hon. House.

The period of six months has expired for which he consented to continue in the supreme command.

Placed at the head of the virtuous army of the Province, in order to repel the unitarian invasion headed by the miscreant Lavalle, it was not proper amid the din of arms to make that manifestation to your Hon. House.

Will your Hon. House be pleased to take into consideration the person who is to succeed him?

The undersigned reiterates his fervent entreaties: may your Hon. House deign to concede to him the repose which his domestic misfortunes demand. Allow him, Hon. Representatives, a relief to his harassed existence, and enable him to contemplate from the peaceful retirement of domestic life, the glorious work of your wisdom and immortal ardent patriotism.

God preserve your Hon. House many years.

JUAN MANUEL DE ROSAS.

Buenos Ayres, December 2, 1840.

The Governor of the Province,

To H. E. the Delegate Governor and Captain General.

EXCELLENT SIR,

The Province in arms worthily sustains its martial attitude. Its noble army proceeds in the path of honor. Divided into three strong corps and other divisions, it is inflamed with the warlike ardour of glorious independence. It seeks with lance in hand the enemies of the Confederation. The odious unitarians are bowed to the earth. Justice and liberty raise themselves triumphant.

The numerous tribes of friendly indians render their services with ardent fidelity.

The recreant unitarian Juan Lavalle, terrified by daily victories over his wretched slaves, has been compelled to seek shelter in rugged thickets.

The triumphs of the arms of liberty have scattered terror in the ranks of those wretches.

The announcement of Peace, glorious to France and to the Confederation, has infused abject dismay in those who excited illusory hopes in order to sacrifice unfortunate victims. The powerful elements of the Confederation will discharge upon them final chastisement.

The Province free, rejoicing in its glories, presents in the noble fidelity of its federal sons a relevant proof of virtue and intrepidity. Its ports open to commerce, and its arms adorned with immortal laurels, announce that Heaven, rewarding its heroic virtuous constancy, secures to it the complete triumph of its liberty.

God preserve Y. E. many years.

JUAN MANUEL DE ROSAS.

We received by H. B. M's brig Wizard, London papers to 7th October, Paris to 5th.—Prince Louis Napoleon has been condemned to perpetual imprisonment in a fortress in France. An attempt had been made to set fire to the dock-yard at Sheerness, and combustible materials were placed in the ship Camperdown, 120 guns, in that harbour. These circumstances, and the recent fire in Devonport dock-yard, had caused increased precautions in all the dock-yards in the United Kingdom, extra sentinels were stationed in them, and no person allowed to visit them without being accompanied by a constable.

Beyrout had been bombarded for 9 days by British line of battle ships and reduced to ashes. The Egyptian force which garrisoned it had retreated. This affair has caused great sensation in France—the following is a letter from Havre dated October 3rd.

"The news of the destruction of Beyrout by the allied forces, which was received here this morning, has created a great sensation.—War is now thought inevitable, and the people talk of it as about to take place immediately. Their feelings are excited, too, in every way by the leading journal of the place, which seizes every opportunity of pouring forth its hatred of England and everything English. Matters had looked much better for some days, but this day's news has made them appear worse than ever. Depend on it things are beginning to look very awkward."

The following are extracts from the Morning Post of 6th October.

Paris, Sunday, October, 4.

I might refer you to the letter I wrote seven weeks since to describe our actual situation.—It is in few words—"Thiers and war, or Thiers and revolution." If this restless and ambitious Minister remains in office war is inevitable—if he goes out on the war cry a revolution is probable. Of these two results the latter is the most likely to happen. M. Thiers is urged by the Court and the Conservatives to convoke the Chambers. He is decidedly opposed to this, as he is convinced that he will be overthrown.—His policy is to manage matters in that way that he may wage war at his own pleasure—that he may place the King and country in a position where it will have only to choose between deep humiliation or war abroad. Numberless are the intrigues at this moment, and already has the Constitutionnel signified that retirement from office, or war, can alone save M. Thier's honour. Within a few weeks, if not within a shorter period, we shall have the Ministerial crisis, but the Cabinet must indeed be bold. Who will now essay to calm and soothe the irritation of the belligerent French people? Every man is burning for war and pants for the hour of combat. It is ridiculous to attempt to deny the universality of the feeling. Even the cautious commercial classes, the timid financial interests, are affected by the appeal to the nationality. I will not speak of the army, the navy, the National Guards. Louis Philippe is still for peace at any price; he sees no casus belli, for he neither has the will nor the power to make war. He knows the precariousness of his position, and he is now leaning towards the intriguers who wish to displace Thiers. The latter, up to this moment, is against the convocation of the Chambers, but it is desired by Louis Philippe, and he has three Members in the Cabinet opposed to Thiers on this question. When the despatches relative to Beyrout reach the Ministry this day there will be another animated discussion on this point. We are now all in anxious expectation as to its decision.—My opinion is that Thiers cannot stand, but he may go out of office with such formidable chances as leader of an opposition on the nationality appeal that convulsion at home may replace war abroad.

From "The Times" of 7th October.

It was reported in Paris, our correspondent writes, that on the arrival of the news from Beyrout, M. Thiers immediately waited on the King, and urged the adoption of measures of hostility. His proposition was at once met by a positive refusal; the danger to which the settlement of Algiers and the French fleet in the Rio de la Plata would be exposed in the event of war, being started as objections to any proceeding which would bring about such an event. It was also rumoured, that the King's natural anxiety for the safety of the Prince de Joinville, who had gone to St Helena to transport to France the ashes of Napoleon, contributed in no inconsiderable degree at the present moment to increase his repugnance for war.

ARGENTINE THEATRE.

On 6th inst., was performed El Teson.

On 8th, a play and a farce.

We were not present on either of the above evenings.

Sir Woodbine Parish, formerly British Chargé d'Affaires to this country, was about to proceed to Naples, on a special mission from the British government to arrange the sulphur claims.

We received by the Hamburgh brig Maria Elizabeth, the Despertador of Rio Janeiro to 27th ult. That of the 27th contains important European news, in the shape of an extract from the Liverpool Times of 20th October, which says that the foreign intelligence of the preceding day was of a very pacific nature.—Other accounts agree in this, and that every probability existed of the amicable arrangement of the differences between France and the Allied Powers.

The King of France has again been fired at, but escaped unhurt. The act took place at 6 in the evening of the 14th October, at the moment H. M. had entered his carriage to proceed to St. Cloud. The assassin is named Darmes, a native of Marseilles, aged 43—he fired from a blunderbuss loaded with 5 balls, and expressed his regret that he had failed in his purpose.—The carriage was much injured.

The Princess Augusta, daughter of George III., and aunt to Queen Victoria, expired on 29th September, at Clarence House, St. James's, aged 72. She was interred with great pomp at Windsor.

The Despertador also contains intelligence of the arrival at Bahia from England in 27 days of the British man of war steamer Prospero,

BATHING.—The bathers in the river were numerous this week, and including on the evenings of Thursday and Friday a number of ladies.

Married.

In the Cathedral of Montevideo, 9th, Novr. last, Mr. DINES CONNORS, eldest son of Mr. Thomas Connors, to Miss LORENZA WELSH, youngest daughter of Mr. Michael Welsh, both natives of Ireland.

Died.

On the 6th inst., aged 30, much regretted, Don SANTIAGO RUBIO.

On the 10th, aged 23, on board the United States ship Decatur, William H. Williams, a native of New York. His remains were conveyed to the American Protestant Cemetery on the 11th, attended by Captain Ogden, several of his officers, and a party of seamen of the Decator.
